Mission

We bring Austin's music producers together. Through meetups, workshops, and collaborations, producers of every genre and experience level find their people, sharpen their craft, and support one another. Our goal is a lasting community for those behind the city's sound.

Story

Austin Producer Alliance was founded in May 2022 by Kevin Huang and Kyle Henderson to build the city's foremost community for music producers. What began as a Discord server grew into a recurring meetup at the Austin Central Library, then into a collective in partnership with longtime sponsor STATION Austin (formerly Capital Factory). To date, APA has welcomed more than 1,000 producers and creatives to its events.

Style

FEEL

Bold, warm, analog, graphic, and confident. A little rough around the edges. Like a printed show poster pinned up in a music studio. Mostly Cream and Ink. Plenty of space around the logo, the type, and the photos.

FINISH

Heavy, wide headlines, one loud orange, and small mono labels. Flat color, square corners, hard shadows, and photos of rooms and people. Accents are crop marks, halftone dots, paper grain, slight tilt, and waveform bars.

Typography

The brand uses the three typefaces below. Sizes step from body size by a factor of 1.25 and round to the nearest even pixel. Line heights use the same scale. Headlines and labels take their own size as line height. Subheads take one step up. Intros, body text, buttons, and details take two. Names and labels take no period.

Unbounded

Headlines and large numbers. Set them in bold and sentence case. Tighten the letter spacing to −0.02 em. Keep each line short. Signal in a headline takes one full line on Cream, Ink, or Night. A label above the headline names the place, program, or time.
